What do these artists have in common?
Not one thing . . . except a little furry friend.
Born in 1971, the original foxx® Tone Machine™ was made for only a few short years. Ever since, its fat-backed, fuzzed-out sound has been used to make heroes out of guitar players.

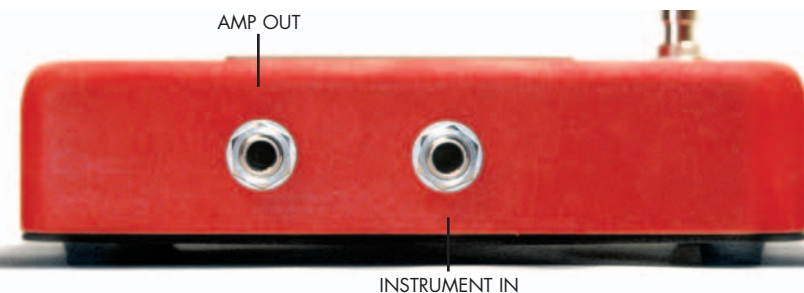

Now it's back.

Perfectly replicated analog circuitry, assembled in the U.S.A., and available in six different shades of fuzz, this is the only way to get the true foxx® tone.
Stomp on one and listen to it scream.
